Report on CCA-2 : Elocution

Date : 12-8-2023 and 19-08-2023

Participating in elocution helps students develop clear speech and articulate their thoughts confidently. Speaking in front of an audience helps young children overcome stage fright and build self-confidence from an early age. Regular practice and preparation for elocution competitions expose children to new words and phrases, enhancing their vocabulary. Students learn to listen attentively to others, understanding the importance of tone, pitch, and expression in communication.

At NPS Kengeri Junior Wing, we hosted an engaging elocution competition. A unique highlight of the event for KG 2 and Mont 3 was the involvement of parents from the educational field as judges. These parents were given the opportunity to assess the competition, adding valuable insights and expertise to the judging process. Children from KG 1 and Mont 2 also took part in the on-stage competition, where they were judged by teachers from higher classes. We have provided age – appropriate topics to help children prepare effectively for the competition, we ensure that every child, regardless of skill level, gets opportunity to participate and learn.

Both kindergarten and Montessori children participated enthusiastically, showcasing their speaking skills with confidence and clarity. The presence of experienced judges provided valuable feedback and encouragement, making the event a rich learning experience for all the young participants.
